GET RICH QUICK.

Schemes of this class have again come to grief along with the gullible investors, causing serious loss to innocent business concerns, as is always the case of panics in Wall St.

While this last lesson is yet fresh in mind, it is an opportune moment to consider causes and means to avoid like trouble in the future.

Direct your attention to that greatest of all Newspapers the Cincinnati Enquirer. From its columns one can readily detect the trend of currency, its lodging places, by whom handled, uses made of it, and final results.

Again you read quotations of Bonds, Stocks, and Securities of every nature, fixing Status of all business from the retailer, to United States Government.

Also Current News, facts and reliable data covering the entire world; all sufficiently explicit to enable thinking people to avoid snags and follow the channel of success.

Its extra size and high price, is the secret of its ability to discover, obtain, print and serve its patrons with all the news, and cater to wants of people in every calling of life.

The Weekly Enquirer for the year 1908 has greatly increased its Clubbing offers which now include the most select and popular publications of the day at prices slightly over half the regular Subscription rates.

Do not overlook the fact that the year 1908 promises to excel in prosperity any of the past, and that the Enquirer printed at Cincinnati, Ohio, is one of the most reliable sources of information.

CYCLONE SOUTH OF LOGAN

Orland and Vicinity Visited by a Destructive Wind.

On Wednesday evening a very rough time was handed out by the weather man to some of the farmers near Orland, south of Logan. A small cyclone was ushered onto their premises, and took things twisting. The roof of the barn of L. Payne was ripped off, and out buildings blown several hundred yards away. Small stable of Geo. Miller was completely demolished. The barn on the farm of L. E. Eggleston was blown down and killed two of his horses.

Mr. T. D. Trimmer was in town this morning and says the storm in that vicinity was something fierce. Fences and straw stacks and sheds piled in a litter in the roads and fields.

Barn Raising.

At the home of Franciscos, one-half mile west of Enterprise, on the 30th day of March, there was a barn raising. This was intended to represent an old-fashioned frolic. The people for miles around were all invited to come and help to raise a large frame barn, in the same way it was done 50 years ago. The work was all done by noon, and then the big dinner was served up that was one of the best ever seen in that part of the country. This dinner was too big to be served in the house, so they just placed large pots and kettles on a pole over a big fire in the yard. They had 18 cooks and had everything in the best of order. Eighty six men and eighteen women partook of this feast of fat things for over two hours before all were through eating. There has not been, in the history of our people, a more social and enjoyable affair known than the Francisco barn raising. All complete in every way, only the fiddle and dance, of the old time frolic.

Death of Jacob Schrader.

One of Logan's good old citizens passed away Thursday of last week, March 28, in the person of Jacob Schrader, at his home in west Logan, after a very brief sickness. The funeral occurred from the St. John's Catholic church on Monday morning of this week.

Jacob Schrader was born March 17, 1828, in Prussia, and came to this country early in life and settled in Marion township in Hocking county. Here he married Miss Magdalene Busby, to which union there were born nine children. One child died in infancy, and the eldest daughter, Matilda, is dead.

The children living are, Joe, Jake, Mathias, Dave and John, Mrs. Wm. Miller and Mrs. Jacob Ucker. About seventeen years ago Mr. Schrader moved to Logan. He was a good citizen and he will be missed by his many friends. On St. Patrick's day he had reached the ripe old age of 80 years.
